

Supported shared trips have lower observed passenger spending than their cell references

